KAMLOOPS FILM EXPERIENCE

9:00AM
KENNA
CARTWRIGHT NATURE PARK

Begin the day at Kenna Cartwright Nature Park, one of the largest municipal parks in British Columbia. A short hike leads to breathtaking viewpoints overlooking the Thompson Valley – just like in 2012 and The A-Team. Standing at the top, imagine the kind of urgency seen in 2012, where characters race across the collapsing terrain, scanning the horizon for a way out. The scale of the valley creates the same tension that is vast, exposed, and unpredictable. It's also reminiscent of scenes from The A-Team, where Hannibal's team moves strategically through open landscapes, always aware that the environment is part of the challenge.

11:00 AM
LAC DU BOIS
GRASSLANDS
PROTECTED AREA & LUNCH

The experience deepens at Lac du Bois Grasslands Protected Area. Here, the terrain becomes quieter and more immersive. The rolling hills and open sky reflect the isolated environments seen in Maze Runner: The Death Cure, where Thomas first begins to understand the world beyond the maze. The grasslands create the same sense of isolation and uncertainty, where every direction feels possible, but nothing is fully known. The same environment echoes in Battlestar Galactica, where Kara "Starbuck" Thrace navigates unfamiliar planets, relying on instinct as much as direction. The openness here creates the same feeling, as if you've stepped into a place where survival and discovery are closely linked.

Even The X-Files comes to mind, where Mulder and Scully investigate remote, unexplainable phenomena in landscapes just like this. Places where the silence feels intentional, and every detail matters.

Pause here for lunch, while surrounded by the grasslands, before continuing to Battle Bluffs Trail.

2:30PM
BATTLE BLUFFS TRAIL

This rewarding hike offers panoramic views over the Thompson River valley. Reaching the top feels like stepping into a turning point. The kind of moment where a character looks out over the terrain and finally understands the scale of what they're up against.

5:00PM
POST-HIKE REWARD

After a full day outdoors, return to the city for a well-earned reward at Bright Eye Brewing or Red Collar Brewing & Distilling, both popular Kamloops spots.

AFTER DARK
GREENSTONE MOUNTAIN

For those seeking a true cinematic ending, head to Greenstone Mountain for an evening of stargazing and night photography. With little light pollution, the sky creates the perfect setting for imaging distant worlds, as seen in Lost in Space.
